

Tandy-LaMaster.

Wednesday afternoon, April 9th at five o'clock Miss Nancy Bartlett Tandy and Mr. Fowler Orem La-Master were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Tandy in Carrollton, Ky.

At the appointed hour for the marriage Miss Margaret Evans played Chaminades "Souvenir", following which Mrs. J. Gex Williams of Ghent sang two beautiful solos—"Because" and Cadman's "At Dawning". Following this the groom and the officiating minister the Rev. W. B. Snyder of Milton, a relative of the bride's family, and the bride on the arm of her sister, Miss Mary Jesse Tandy entered the parlors, as the Lohengrin wedding march was skillfully rendered by Miss Ruth Giltner of Louisville, a cousin of the bride.

As the group stood in the doorway between the double parlors, Miss Giltner playing softly during the ceremony, the Rev. Mr. Snyder, using the ring ceremony in a very impressive manner pronounced the contracting parties husband and wife. The darkened parlors were aglow with mellow candle light and were artistically decorated in green and white.

Attired in white organdie, with veil and wreath of white sweet-peas, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, Miss Nancy Bartlett made a most charming bride. Her attendant wore green organdie and carried lilies and roses.

After the ceremony refreshments of ices and cakes were served in the dining room to about seventy-five guests. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations of the dining room and in the refreshments.

The bride is one of Carrollton's most gifted young women, a leader in church, club and social life, and is a general favorite with everyone both young and old. The groom who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben I. La-Master of Campbellsburg, is a fine young man and has brightest prospects for success in life.

After congratulations the happy couple left for a trip to Chicago and on their return came to their future home at Campbellsburg with the groom's parents.

The two families joined so auspiciously by this happy union are easily among the most representative families of their respective counties, measured either by a standard of morals or of usefulness and popularity. The newly married are types of young persons who are worthy of the high ideals and splendid traditions that belong to the time-honored names so linked together.

Quite a number of out-of-town guests were present at the wedding, among them the groom's parents and his brother Paul LaMaster from Washington.

Many beautiful gifts of silver and cut glass were received.

Saturday evening Mr and Mrs. B. I. LaMaster, the father and mother of the groom, entertained a few near relatives in honor of the bride and groom.
